PEKIN DISTILLERY FIRE IS UNCONTROLLED

Farm Program Again Slows Weary Senate

Humphrey Charges Propaganda By Administration

By United Press — The stop-and-go Senate, already weary by two historic debates, was slowed down again today by continuing discussion of the controversial farm program.

About 20 senators waited to speak on the administration's proposal to substitute flexible price supports for the rigid props now in effect at 90 per cent of parity. Previously the Senate was stymied by the atomic filibuster and argument over proposed censure of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), one of the first to gain the floor in the second day of debate on the bill, accused the administration of using "immoral propaganda" to promote its program. He said President Eisenhower favored 100 per cent parity in the 1952 campaign.

Hits "Immoral" Propaganda

"There have been continuous efforts . . . to try to disassociate the administration from its promises," Humphrey said. "The administration policy of 1954 is a betrayal of 1952 promises."

Humphrey rejected President Eisenhower's stand that rigid, high supports create a problem of farm surpluses.

"This talk about surplus is immoral propaganda," Humphrey asserted.

Although administration forces were confident of success and pushed for a showdown, they indicated the test probably will not be reached until Friday because of continuing debate.

The House has approved a flexible scale of 82 1/2 to 90 per cent for farm price supports, contrasted to the 75 to 90 per cent range sought by the administration. However, President Eisenhower has endorsed the compromise.

Other Congress highlights:

Racketeering: Boris Baron, president of a New York decorating company, told a House government operations committee he paid $3,000 to some local painters' union officials to be sure he got painters for a $200,000 job at Andrews Field, (Md.) Air Force Base in 1951. He said he wrote it off as "entertainment."

Statue of Liberty: A House Foreign Affairs subcommittee approved a bill setting up plans for a United States to give France a statue of liberty or suitable monument in appreciation for the famed statue in New York harbor which France gave this country in 1884.

Debt: The national debt climbed to 274 billion dollars today, only one billion dollars below the legal ceiling. The climb occurred while Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey was asking Congress for an increase in the legal limit. Congress refused a higher ceiling last year.

Lightning Fires
Roof of East Moline State Hospital

EAST MOLINE, Ill. — A fire apparently touched off by lightning swept across the roof of the East Moline State Mental Hospital, but all patients were led safely from the building.

An attendant was temporarily overcome by smoke Wednesday night when he and other employees marched 143 patients from the burning building.

Firemen from East Moline, Moline and Silvis, brought the blaze under control after it had destroyed the roof of the two-story brick structure. The building is one of several located on the hospital grounds.

The storm that struck the East Moline area was one of several that swept parts of Iowa and Illinois with severe rain and hail.

CHICAGO — A 4-year-old boy was found strangled in the top part of a double-bed bed minutes after his mother tucked him in.

The boy, Charles James Gohn Jr., caught his head between the mattress and a retaining bar that was supposed to keep him from falling out.

Firemen's efforts to revive Charles failed.

Charge Mother With Fatally Beating Son

NEW YORK — The crippled "problem" daughter of a wealthy Westchester contractor was charged today with beating to death her fatherless 2 1/2-year-old son.

The blackened and emaciated body of little Joseph Mahony was found in the closet of a West Side hotel room, where he and his mother had been living on relief with a small time ex-convict.

Police said Margaret Mahony, 29, had admitted beating her child, because "he wet his pants and wasn't behaving himself." They said the blond blue-eyed youngster had been lashed for days, apparently with a metal curtain rod and a wide leather belt which were found in the hotel room.

Arrested with the mother was Alfred Bates, 22, a some-time gardener with a long record of small crimes. Miss Mahony said he was not the father of the child.

Police said the mother told them the child had had a peanut butter sandwich and a bottle of pop for supper Tuesday night and she couldn't remember when he had last been fed before that.

Miss Mahony identified herself as the daughter of Thomas Mahony, wealthy Scarsdale, N. Y., contractor. Her mother was quoted as saying the girl, youngest of six children, had "always been a problem" and had left home some time ago, apparently about the time her child was born, refusing to return.

Miss Mahony's legs were crippled by a birth injury; she stands only 4 feet 8 inches tall.

Transport Truck Plows Into Bedroom; Woman, 66, Killed
TAYLORVILLE, Ill. (UP) — Mrs. Luzetta Hicks, 66, was killed in a transport truck plowed through the bedroom where she slept.

Police said the truck, driven by Elmer A. Barker, St. Louis, tried to avoid a parked car on City Route 29-48 at 4:30 a. m. The truck jackknifed, threw Barker away from the wheel, sheared off a porch of one home and crashed into a second house where Mrs. Hicks roomed.

Mrs. Norma Lowe and her daughter, Deborah Jean, suffered lacerations. Another Lowe child and two elderly men roomers were not injured.

The truck cab was entirely inside the house and the walls were crumpled around it.

Nixon Names Committee to Study Censure

Group to Report Before Congress Adjournment

WASHINGTON — Vice President Richard M. Nixon today named a six-man committee—three Republicans and three Democrats—to weigh censure charges against Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy. They are:

Republicans: Sens. Arthur V. Watkins (Utah), Frank Carlson (Kan.) and Francis Case (S.D.). Democrats: Sens. Edwin C. Johnson (Colo.), John C. Stennis (Miss.) and Sam J. Ervin Jr. (N.C.).

The special six-man committee was set Monday by the Senate to study and report before congressional adjournment on the resolution by Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.) to censure McCarthy. The group also will consider lists of specific charges against the Wisconsin Republican filed by Flanders and Sens. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) and Wayne Morse (Ind. Ore.).

The six senators were understood to have been selected by both Republican and Democratic leadership in part on the basis of the fact that they have not taken strong hand on the McCarthy issue.

McCarthy, who entered the chamber after the committee was named, said he hopes the members "will meet with me immediately, this afternoon."

McCarthy said he wants "to make sure our investigating subcommittee work doesn't conflict" with the work of the special committee. He also said he wants to discuss with the six-member group "the method of proof, the nature of proof they want."

"Functions and Purpose"
Fulbright, one of McCarthy's sternest Senate critics, arose immediately after the committee names were read in the Senate and asked Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland to outline the "functions and purpose" of the special committee.

"I think the type and nature of the report and its findings is a matter for the committee itself to determine," Knowland said.

The select committee was appointed under the advice of Knowland and Democratic Senate Leader Lyndon B. Johnson.

The Senate resolution setting up the six-man "jury" authorized the committee to hold hearings and to issue subpoenas or take other steps to obtain testimony and records and documents pertinent to its inquiry.

Nixon told McCarthy the committee will select its own chairman from among its membership.

Farmer Injured When Struck By Prowlers

A farmer living north of Eldorado was injured Tuesday night when hit over the head by prowlers. Deputy Sheriff Isham Threet reported today.

He is Harrison Weatherington, who resides with his wife on a Garner farm near Texas City.

Weatherington said he went into a tool shed back of his house around 9 p. m. and as he entered he was struck on the head.

He was added, he said, but not knocked unconscious and he heard two men talking as they departed.

He made his way to the house immediately after being struck.

Officers believe the prowlers were out to steal something and thought that Weatherington had heard them and had come out to investigate.

Iran and West Officially Announce Agreement to End 3-Year-Old Oil Dispute

TEHRAN, Iran.—Iran and the West announced officially today a 25-year agreement putting Iranian oil back on the world market for the first time in three years.

The agreement ended a struggle that had cost more than 1000 lives and for many uncertain months threatened to swing Iran into the Soviet orbit.

It also restored to Iran her major source of revenue. The agreement reached between Iran and a Western oil combine was the second major Middle East settlement in a week. It followed an Anglo-Egyptian pact for evacuation of British troops from the Suez Canal Zone.

The deal made here relieved Britain from one of the worst tail-twists it has suffered since World War II and stabilized a country that lies under Russia's soft Middle East underbelly on a frontier regarded as a likely Soviet invasion route westward in event of war.

Spokesmen for the oil combine said it will require about two months to put the agreement into legal form, sign it, get it ratified by Iran and approved by the Shah.

Only then can tankers begin loading "a large volume of Iran's oil" at the ports of Abadan and Bandar Nashur, for transport to the oil consumers of the Western world.

Principal points of the agreement were:

1. The Western oil combine will operate the rich oil fields and explore for new deposits.

2. A second company formed by the combine will operate the huge Abadan oil refinery which will again become the biggest producer in the Mideast after three years of idleness.

3. Money-short Iran will get an estimated income of 420 million dollars from oil in the first three full years of operation, following a three-months period required to get the giant industry in operation again.

4. The combine will market Iran's oil abroad.

5. The agreement will run for 25 years, with provision for three five-year extensions.

6. Iran will pay the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. 64 million dollars compensation for the industry over a 10-year period beginning in 1957. The figure is looked upon as more-or-less a "token payment" for the vast and valuable properties involved.

DULLES HAILS PACT AS TRIUMPH OF GOOD WILL

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today hailed the new British-Iranian oil agreement as a triumph of "good will" diplomacy and predicted it will usher in "a new era of great hope and prosperity" for Iran.

In a formal statement issued soon after the signing of the 25-year agreement was announced in Tehran, Dulles said the United States is "extremely pleased" by the settlement of the 4-year oil dispute.

His statement clearly reflected the optimism of diplomatic strategists here who regarded the agreement as a stunning defeat for Russia's long-standing aim to take over the oil rich Middle East country.

Woman Inherits Attorney's $500,000 Estate

TAMPA, Fla. (UP) — Rita Harnett said today she'll continue working as a Western Union telegraph supervisor just as though she hadn't inherited $500,000.

Miss Harnett, 51, said she'll establish an educational foundation in honor of Doyle Campbell, 73-year-old attorney who named her sole beneficiary of his estate.

"I'll go back to work Monday just as if nothing ever happened," she said. "I've always worked for a living and I've always enjoyed my work."

Miss Harnett, who lives with her mother, said her salary "is quite enough" for them to live on. She has worked for Western Union for 35 years.

Miss Harnett, who learned of her inheritance Wednesday, said she was "very grieved" and was surprised Campbell had left her the money. She had been a friend of Campbell's family for several years.

When Campbell suffered a heart attack three years ago, Miss Harnett helped nurse him back to health. She later cooked and kept house for him. She had met him in 1929 when she sought legal assistance.

Attorney Henry Cole said there was no indication that Campbell's relatives would contest the will. He said Miss Harnett was "getting along very nicely with the members of the family."

Army Bans Jeans, Bare Midriffs in Germany Command

FRANKFURT, Germany (UP) — American women loudly protested today an Army edict banning blue jeans and bare midriffs on U. S. military installations in Germany.

But the man behind the order, Col. John R. Dilley of Kansas City, Kan., said they were obeying it. "If they don't know how to dress then somebody's got to tell them," Dilley said. "There's been a considerable improvement already."

Dilley's order for the "Northern Area Command" in Germany forbids the public wearing of shorts and peek-a-boo necklines by female dependents of U. S. service men.

Bareback and bare midriff dresses, blue jeans and pin curlers also were ruled in bad taste by the Dilley directive, which also ordered Army men to "control the appearance of their wives and daughters."

"They've gone power mad," one indignant Army wife growled. "Pretty soon they're going to line us up in PX (Post Exchange) uniforms and march us to the PX in squads."

The directive forbade "mature women" to wear blue jeans.

One American official said this passage referred to the "overstuffed" type of old lady who runs around in overalls.

Gov't Mediators Again Try to End A-Dispute

WASHINGTON (UP) — Federal mediators made a new stab today to settle a months-long wage dispute at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky., atomic energy plants to avert a second strike set for next Tuesday.

Representatives of the CIO Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers and the Union Carbide and Carbon Corp., operator of the plants, scheduled a meeting this afternoon with mediation officials.

The officials said they understood wage negotiations have been at a standstill since early last month when the workers called off a four-day strike. The government had taken preliminary steps to get a Taft-Hartley anti-strike injunction when the walkout ended.

The 4,500 CIO workers involved struck after rejecting a 6-cent hourly wage hike recommended by the President's atomic energy labor relations panel.

Other Workers Involved
They went back to work with a promise by Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell that steps would be taken to improve housing and other community problems and labor-management relations in the atomic field.

Mitchell has scheduled an Aug. 23 meeting of union leaders and the Atomic Energy Commission to discuss these problems. But the CIO union's new strike date is still over the matter of wage negotiations with the company.

Some 4,500 other workers at Oak Ridge, members of the AFL Atomic Trades Council, also are involved in the wage dispute. But the AFL union has not yet raised a strike threat.

The dispute began last spring when the federal mediation service originally tried and failed to bring about a settlement.

The plants involved in the dispute produce materials used in the atomic bomb. Government officials have warned that if the plants are left idle any length of time, they can become completely useless.

Shift in Wind Saves City's Industrial Dis't

Two Known Dead, Four Missing; 38 are Injured

PEKIN, Ill. (UP) — A shift in winds saved the Pekin industrial district today from a tremendous fire which it was feared had killed perhaps 60 men, injured 38, and caused five million dollars damage.

Two were known dead and four were missing.

The fire was still raging uncontrolled more than 36 hours after lightning ignited a whisky aging warehouse at the American Distilling Co. plant at 2:30 a. m. CST Wednesday.

Altogether, the flames consumed five million gallons of whisky, much of it of choice grade, stored in 100,000 fifty-gallon barrels in three warehouses and a bottling plant.

Blast Spreads Flames
Firemen believed they had the blaze under control Wednesday night when a tremendous explosion rocked the area for 75 miles around, setting off new fires in the 61-acre distillery.

The flames might have spread to a nearby building loaded with raw alcohol. The building was ignited several times but the sparks burned out on the rooftop.

Officials also were afraid that sparks might set off a dust explosion at a starch storage building, owned by the Corn Products Co., two blocks away.

Either blast might have endangered Pekin's entire industrial area, including four huge plants. About noon today, however, the wind changed and Fire Chief Roy C. Weinheimer reported the danger of new fires was past unless the breeze shifted again.

Drag for Bodies
Weinheimer said he planned to let the fire burn itself out.

Meanwhile, workmen with rigs went as close as they dared to drag through smoldering ruins for bodies.

One recovered by noon was not immediately identified.

The body of Lawrence Neavear, 39, Pekin, a distillery worker, was recovered shortly after the blast at 10:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Still missing and presumed dead were James Dancy, Richard Ertmoed, Marion Garber, William Kohler and Ed Winkler. All are Pekin residents and all are believed to be employees of the distillery.

Police Chief Roy Brees said his department had "several dozen" phone calls from residents of two housing additions in the industrial area waiting to report whether a reported order for them to evacuate was "official."

Brees said neither city, state nor civil defense officials had ordered any evacuation.

The Corn Products Co. sent its workers home and kept only a skeleton crew. The Quaker Oats plant, also in a danger zone a quarter of a mile away, was not working due to a power outage.

Among the injured were Ray Miller, assistant fire chief of nearby Peoria, and FBI agent John W. Reed of Springfield.

Fire companies from 11 communities fought the blaze and all available state police were called out to control traffic and guard road blocks. Civil defense workers were asked to report and the Red Cross sent shipments of whole blood serum to Pekin hospitals.

Red China Rejects Second Protest

WASHINGTON — Red China has rejected a second U. S. protest over the shooting down of a B-26 bomber carrying six American passengers, a State Department spokesman said today.

He was unable to say what further steps, if any, the United States plans to take in the incident.

word of the Chinese rejection was relayed through the British Embassy here. Britain handles U. S. business with Red China because the United States does not recognize the Chinese Communist regime.

West to Reject Russia's Bid For New Parley

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. officials predicted today the West will turn down Russia's bid for a new Big Four foreign ministers conference to discuss the Soviet plan for an all-European defense system.

They left little doubt but that the United States would reject the Kremlin's proposal. And they predicted Britain and France would line up with this country in refusing to agree to the meeting.

American diplomats feel that the Soviet Union has shown no sign of wanting to solve individual East West problems. They think it would be senseless in view of this attitude to discuss the all-European security plan now. They say the Russians must first prove that they want to live peacefully with the Western world before free nations could consider linking their defense systems with those of the Communist world.

BITTER SAGE

By Frank Gruber

III
Laura was rushing out of the house, screaming and sobbing.

By that time, Tancred was in the shed. He swept aside the hay from the manger, scooped out the carpetbag and tore it open.

He plunged in his hand and brought out a holster wrapped about a gun.

He did not bother with the holster. Uncolored it, he gripped the naked Navy model and stepped to the door of the shed.

His eyes went straight ahead, saw Laura on her knees, sobbing over her father.

Dave was the first to see him.
Shock hit him as he saw the gun in Tancred's hand. Dick, looking at Dave's face, wheeled.

Tancred fired at Dave. The distance was 75 feet, but Tancred's bullet caught Dave square in the forehead. Then Tancred pivoted and fired at Dick, once. Jethro let out a scream of sheer terror. He fired, but the thing he had just seen, deprived him of everything. His bullet went completely wild.

Tancred shot him down.

He did not look at the fallen men again. He went forward to Laura, who had rocked back to her heels. Her tear-strained face was taut, her eyes wild.

"I shouldn't have waited," he said. "But I . . . I couldn't . . .
I couldn't fire the gun."

"Who are you?" whispered
Laura in awe.

"My name," said Tancred, "is Tancred."

"Tancred?" cried Laura, in shock. "The man who . . .
The man who killed Sam Older."

Now, you know. . .

Abilene had his brief day as a boom town when the Texas cattle herds came to it, up the Chisholm Trail. Then the rails crept westward and Wichita had its day of glory and Ellsworth and Dodge City.

And then it was Sage City.

When Wes Tancred stepped off the Kansas & Western train at Sage City he looked to the north of the tracks and saw homes and shaded trees, a town that looked like so many of the newer Midwestern villages. Then he turned and looked down South Street and saw saloons and gambling halls, a score of stores and shops, a street churning with horses and wagons and humanity.

Trail town.

He stepped off the depot platform and started down the street.

A cowboy came charging up the middle of the street on a cow pony, whooping and shooting at the sky and nobody on the wooden sidewalks paid any attention to him.

Tancred went into the hotel and a youth about 19 shoved a register toward him.

Tancred wrote the name John Bailey in the book, hesitated, then added, St. Louis, Mo. The youthful clerk studied the inscription.

"Two dollars. If you're going to stay a whole week it's ten."

"I'll take it by the day," Tancred said. He took out two dollars and dropped them on the counter.

The clerk studied a key rack and took down a key. "No. 5.
That's right in front."

Tancred picked up his carpet-bag and valise and climbed the stairs to the second floor. He found that Room No. 5 was the last door on the right.

Tancred took off his coat, poured water into the washbowl and washed his face and hands. Then he opened his valise and took out a clean shirt. His hand touched a bundle at the bottom of the bag.

He hesitated, then unrolled the bundle and exposed a well-oiled revolver. Finally, he re-wrapped the gun and put it back into the bottom of the carpetbag.

He put on his coat and descended to the lobby.

A sleepy-eyed man of about 40 had taken over the desk. He was studying the ledger and did not seem very happy about it. "You're Mr. Bailey, the new guest?" he asked as Tancred came up.

"That's right."

"I'm the proprietor, Joe Handy.
The boy gave you No. 5. I was saying that for Hong Kong Smith.
He's checking in tomorrow." He looked inquiringly at Tancred. "Expect to stay here long?"

Tancred shook his head. "Can you tell me where I can find the Sage City Star?"

"Luke Miller's newspaper?" The hotel man frowned. "You, uh, going to work for Luke?"

"He advertised for a man and —I'm looking for a job." Tancred looked shrewdly at Handy.
"Anything wrong about that?"

"N-no. Only, well, Luke's got some of the people down on him.
Not me, though." Handy added hastily. "It's just, well, Luke's kinda outspoken."

"A lot of newspapermen are."
"It don't make them popular."

The hotel man drummed his fingers on the desk. "Luke's place is right around the corner."

Tancred nodded and left the hotel. Outside he walked to the cross street and turned right. Then he saw the sign: "Sage City Star, Luke Miller, Editor and Publisher. Job Printing."

Inside was a desk, heaped with newspapers and papers, and in the rear, a large flatbed press, two job presses and several type-cases. An elderly man was setting up type and Luke Miller was fussing and fuming over the press, his face dabbed with ink, his hands black.

"Be with you in a minute," he called.

Tancred walked back to him.
Miller complained. "This new-fangled machinery they been making, since the war just don't stand up." He picked up a benzine-soaked rag and wiped his hands.

"What can I do for you?"

"You had an ad in the trade paper," Tancred said.

Miller's eyes lit up. He thrust out his blackened hand and grabbed Tancred's. "Never thought a man'd come out here to this jumping-off place!"

"You're here."

"That's because I haven't got any sense. How much pay do you want?"

"I'll leave that to you."

Miller winced. "Don't do that.
I'll take advantage of you." He strode past Tancred to the littered desk and scooped up a copy of the Star. "Here's last week's sheet.
Thirty dollars' worth of advertising in it."

"That doesn't seem like much."

"It isn't," Miller paused.

There was a loud yell from the street.

Couple Starts 2,000 Mile Trip by Outboard Motor

NEW YORK (UP)—Scott and Virginia Webster headed home to Illinois today—by outboard motorboat.

The adventurous couple pushed off from a pier in the Hudson river late Wednesday for a 2,000-mile trip along six rivers, through part of Canada and the Great Lakes, and ending in Fond du Lac, Wis., as close as they plan to go by water to their home in Rockford, Ill.

Webster, 40, a wholesale grocer, and his wife arrived by plane Monday to make the return trip in the 16-foot boat owned by William Collins, a Rockford lawyer.

See Sights of Harbor
"Collins and his two sons started for La Salle, Ill., July 3, and brought the boat here on a route similar to the one we'll follow going back," Webster said. "We agreed before they left that we would fly here and take the boat back. They went back by plane."

After two days of sight-seeing around New York harbor, including trips alongside the ocean liners Queen Elizabeth and United States at their piers, the Websters chugged off up the Hudson river. They had an old Army compass, a fishing rod, a thermos jug of water, two cameras and "shore clothes."

"If you leave home all the little things you think are necessary, you find they aren't necessary," Webster said. His wife agreed.

Better Than the Queen
"I'd rather take a trip like this than go to Europe on the Queen Elizabeth," said Mrs. Webster, 38, as she relaxed on the air mattress that is their bed.

The boat, which has a covered area but no enclosed cabin, is powered by a 25-horsepower outboard motor and should make the trip in about four weeks, Webster said.

"We could make it in three, but we don't want to hurry," Mrs. Webster said.

They will chug up the Hudson river to Lake Champlain, then the Richelieu and St. Lawrence rivers to Lake Ontario, through two more rivers to Georgian Bay, the Straits of Mackinac, Green Bay and finally up the Fox river to Fond du Lac.

Evangelist Gets Rough Treatment At Nudist Camp

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (UP)—Evangelist Braxton B. Sawyer said today he will continue trying to get bare facts about a nudist camp despite rough treatment by guards.

Sawyer complained he was "trampled and thrown out by at least a dozen men" when he invaded the Sunshine Gardens Resort for the opening Wednesday of the national convention of the American Sunbathing Assn.

Sawyer, who delivers daily radio sermons over 27 stations in Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri, said he refused to disrobe as ordered by an attendant and was chased into a nearby field where he stood for nearly an hour, taking movies of the camp.

"All of a sudden a big station wagon rolled into camp and they forgot all about me for a while," Sawyer said later in his hotel room here.

"They were all looking at that Evelyn Chest—or West—that show person who calls herself the treasure chest girl. Well, I took pictures of her for about five minutes before someone saw me. Then at least 12 men walked toward me and told me to surrender my movie camera."

"I told them if they took one more step I'd let them have the camera right in the face—and I meant it. Then they jumped on me and dragged me in the dust. One man jumped on my back with his knees. They pushed my face in

Begin Play in All American Golf Tourney

CHICAGO (AP)—The "play for keeps" portion of Tam O'Shanter's "All American" golf tournament gets under way today after three days of preliminaries with all-star fields competing in the men and women's amateur and men and women pro sections.

The field of more than 700 entrants in all four groups was cut by qualifications for women and men amateurs Monday and for men pro's Tuesday and Wednesday.

Today 200 golfers take off with 136, including 76 exempt players, in the men pro's 24, including 12 exempt, in the women pro group, 24 in the men amateur with eight exemptions, and 46 in the women amateurs, with eight exempted.

Top prize for the 72-hole medal play test, which requires 18 holes a day through Sunday, will be $3,420 for the winner of the men's pro scrap, with $1,000 earmarked for the women's pro champion. Both the men and women amateur champion get $150 in merchandise.

However, the promoters are offering new course record prizes of $10,000 to men pro's, $5,000 to women and a "big merchandise award" to the men amateurs.

Their targets will be the current marks of 63 set by Lloyd Mangrum for men pros, 65 by Billy Campbell for men amateurs, and 70 by Babe Didrikson for women.

Only two major stars were missing from the field, Ben Hogan, once a winner of the 13-year-old "All American," and Sam Snead, who withdrew to go to his son, who recently underwent an operation for an eye ailment.

Chiang Kai-Shek Predicts Third World War to Break Out Soon

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek predicted today that a third world war is "inevitable," an informed source said.

Chiang told 200 members of the Kuomintang Party's Central Committee that such a war would break out "soon," according to the informant.

The generalissimo was reported to have told the inner circle of his ruling party that such a conflict would make the return of the Nationalists to the Chinese mainland a certainty.

According to these reports, Chiang said the invasion might be delayed for "a year or two" but that the counterattack was only a matter of time.

RECEIVES SILVER BAR—After being promoted to first lieutenant at Fort Huachuca, Ariz., Bobby G. Walls (right), Harrisburg, Ill., receives the silver bar signifying his new rank from Colonel Earle F. Cook, deputy commander at Fort Huachuca. The lieutenant, a helicopter maintenance officer with the 9460th Service Unit at the Army Electronic Proving Ground, entered the Army in January 1951. Roberts Wins His 16th Game as Phils Beat Braves, 2-1; Dodgers Trip Cardinals

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

The bushes are full of "humpty-dumpties" who still boast how hard they hit Robin Roberts last spring but the tireless Philadelphia Phillie right-hander can laugh at 'em all today because he's hitting on all cylinders again.

Roberts, intent upon winning 20 or more games for the fifth straight season, registered victory No. 16 Wednesday night with a five-hit 2-1 triumph over Milwaukee.

He struck out nine batters, walked only one and didn't look at all like the same pitcher who couldn't even get the cat out this spring. Belabored for one big inning after another during exhibition games only five months ago, Roberts became the Phillies' chief problem.

"He's lost his great control," whispered hitters who clouted him and are now back in the minors.

Robin Hears Whispers
Roberts heard the whispers and took cognizance of them.

"I know I've looked lousy," he said, "but I'll be okay once the bell rings. I'll win my share of games and then some."

He gave up Milwaukee's only run in the first inning on back-to-back doubles by Danny O'Connell and Eddie Mathews but the Phils tied the score in the last half of the first on a walk and a triple by Granny Hamner and then went ahead on Bobby Morgan's 10th homer in the third.

Ninth-inning homers were the vehicles for Brooklyn's 8-7 decision over St. Louis and Pittsburgh's 4-3 triumph over Cincinnati.

Jackie Robinson's two-run homer in the ninth off Tom Poholsky gave the Dodgers a come-from-behind conquest and kept them five games behind the pace-setting Giants, who defeated the Cubs, 4-3, in 11 innings, while Jerry Lynch's two-run homer with two out in the ninth off reliever Frank Smith helped Vernon Law to his seventh victory.

Thompson Wins for Giants
Hank Thompson singled home Wes Westrum in the 11th as reliever Don Liddle held the Cubs scoreless over the last seven innings to wrap up the Giants' sixth straight victory. Johnny Klippstein was the loser.

Cleveland went 2-1-2 games ahead of the Yankees again in the American league race with a 5-2 decision over the world champions. The Yankees got to winner Bob Lemon for both their runs in the first inning but Bobby Avila slammed a three-run homer off loser Allie Reynolds in the third and Vic West's homer, Sam Den- te's double and Jim Hegan's single added two more runs in the fourth.

White Sox Gain
The White Sox moved to within 3 1/2 games of the second-place Yankees by beating the Red Sox, 6-5, on Matt Batts' 10th-inning single with the bases full off Ellis Kinder. Phil Cavaretta homered with the bases full in the first inning while Ted Williams connected for his 19th homer. Sandy Consuegra relieved Billy Pierce in the ninth and racked up his 14th conquest.

Ned Garver spread six Washington hits over nine innings to pitch Detroit to a 6-2 decision. Ray Boone drove in three runs with a double and a single and Wayne Belardi drove in two more runs with his ninth homer.

A two-run homer by Don Bollweg in the sixth inning produced what proved to be the winning runs in Philadelphia's 5-4 victory over Baltimore. The victory, credited to starter Alex Kellner, moved the Athletics out of the cellar and tumbled the Orioles into it.

Plan Tour for Newport Dream, Winner Of Hambletonian in Straight Heats

GOSHEN, N. Y. (AP)—Little Del Cameron got his Hambletonian winner, Newport Dream, ready for a "grand tour" today as the harness world hailed its latest champion and the man who prepared him for the race of his life.

It was the 125-pound Cameron who carefully nursed Newport Dream back into perfect condition for the one race above all others every owner would like to win. And it was the 5-foot, 4-inch reinsman who guided Newport Dream to victory Wednesday in straight heats even though the 29th edition of the Corn Tassel Derby was tabbed as a wide open race with 16 in the field.

Newport Dream was undisputed king of the two-year-old trotters a year ago. But he went "wrong" shortly after completing his brilliant campaign with 20 victories in 22 races.

But Newport Dream was a fit horse as he romped home in the first heat by three lengths in 2:03 4/5, beating Princess Rodney and Vicki Hanover. And he looked even better the second time as he accepted the challenge of a faster blanket finish and beat Harlan and Princess Rodney the second time around scoring this time by a neck in the same time.

Now Cameron plans to take Newport Dream back over the circuit he toured so successfully with the colt a year ago.

First stop along the Grand Circuit, unless he decides to give the son of Axomite a little rest, will be Wolverine Raceway near Detroit, Mich. Then will come the Review Futurity at the Illinois State Fair at Springfield; the Gahagan Memorial at Sedalia, Mo.; the Matron Stakes at Du Quoin, Ill.; the Reading Fair Futurity at Reading, Pa.; the Ohio Buck- et at the Delaware, Ohio, state fair; and finally the Kentucky Futurity at the Lexington, Ky., trots.

That is an ambitious program for Newport Dream but the 18,000 fans who watched him win the 29th Hambletonian were convinced he has the stuff to win them all.

Thanks to the job Cameron did with the colt owned by Octave Blake of South Plainfield, N. J.

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—Budge Patty of Los Angeles and Hugh Stewart of San Marino, Calif., reached the semi-finals of the International German Tennis Championships by scoring extra-set victories in the quarterfinals Wednesday. Patty, former Wimbledon champion, ousted Italy's Orlando Sirola, while Stewart defeated German Davis Cupper Ernest Bucholz.

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—President Fulgencio Batista of Cuba Wednesday guaranteed heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano $200,000 to defend his crown against Nino Valdes in Havana next spring or summer. It was also learned that Valdes would be guaranteed a purse of $100,000.

NEW YORK (AP)—The U. S. Lawn Tennis Association gave its approval Wednesday for a Junior Davis Cup program to be sponsored jointly by Jack Kramer and Holiday Magazine. Kramer, U. S. Amateur Singles Champion in 1946 and 1947, said the long-range objective of the program is to provide the nation's most promising young players with good coaching and the experience of playing with some of America's best tournament players.

MT. CARMEL, Pa. Johnny Lombardo, 152, Mt. Carmel, drew with Johnny Saxton, 156, Brooklyn (10).

Andy McMahan's Grippio, with Bruce Brinkley riding, took the one mile feature race at the Saline county fair last night.

Sentenced to Hang For Murder Of Iowa Farmer

BLOOMFIELD, Iowa (AP)—William Karston, 29, who confessed he killed an Iowa farmer in an $81 robbery, was sentenced to be hanged today by District Judge Heinrich Taylor.

The judge sentenced Karston's half-brother, Almer Anderson, 22, South St. Paul, Minn., to life imprisonment.

Life imprisonment or hanging were the only sentences Judge Taylor could pronounce under Iowa law after he found them guilty Wednesday of first degree murder in the July 25 slaying of Wendell Jones, 56, Pulaski, Iowa, farmer.

The hanging of William Karston was set for Aug. 15, 1955. Court officials said to their knowledge his death sentence is the first handed down in Davis county.

The men pleaded guilty to an open charge of murder in the slaying. Judge Taylor held a hearing to determine their degree of guilt.

Karston, Hamilton, Ill., and Anderson were returned to county jail immediately and Sheriff James Yates says he will take them to the Fort Madison state prison as soon as the court order is received.

Karston's wife Marjorie, and Mrs. Evelyn Erickson, Keokuk, sister of Karston and Anderson, were in the courtroom when sentence was pronounced.

Stratton Names Two to Public Welfare Board

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—B. Sachs and Dr. F. W. Slobe, both of Chicago, have been appointed to the State Board of Public Welfare Commission to replace two members who resigned.

Gov. William G. Stratton announced acceptance of the two resignations and the new appointments last Wednesday.

The resigning members, both named to the board by Stratton, are Dr. Paul Hawley, Chicago, and Albert Pick Jr., Highland Park.

Slobe, medical director of the Blue Cross Plan for Hospital Care for Chicago and of the Blue Shield for Illinois, was named chairman of the board to replace Hawley.

Sachs is a businessman and philanthropist.

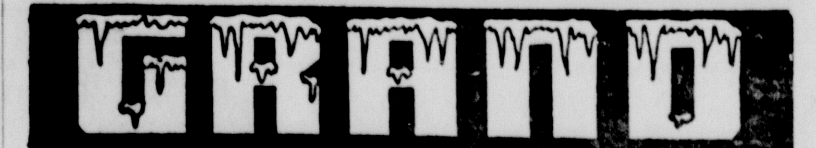

Stratton indicated the resignations of Hawley and Pick resulted from an "honest difference of opinion" between them and the Illinois Psychiatric Research Council. The controversy grew out of the proposed new psychiatric institute state hospital favored by Dr. Percival Bailey, chairman of the council.

At Chicago, Hawley said the proposed five-million-dollar institute for research would be a "fraud" on the mental patients of the state when their ordinary care is far from satisfactory.

"It is like buying diamonds for a child clothed in rags," he said. The first need of the state, he said, is to elevate the standards of medical and psychiatric care in the mental hospitals.
